Isolation

He'd known success
now knew failure (and was the world to blame or his the fatal flaws?) Impaled by shards of memory transfixed by cork comparisons soft framed by lacking life with colours bleached through sun.
And yet he was no specimen a life not having died.